Innovative-e Managing Partner Joins Bamboo Nation as Project Management Resident Expert

Innovative-e, a business technology consulting and services company, partners with Bamboo Solutions to create additional resources and insights for clients.

ATLANTA— Innovative-e Inc. managing partner, Dux Sy, has joined Bamboo Nation — a community site dedicated to SharePoint users — as resident expert in the area of project management. Innovative-e president and CEO, Mike Taylor, sees the partnership as an opportunity to provide clients with additional resources and insights.

“Bamboo Nation is an informational resource that is open to all and serves the growing SharePoint ecosystem,” said Taylor. “Having Dux participate in this community keeps us connected with people who are dedicated to pushing the envelope of SharePoint utilization.”

Bamboo Solutions creates web parts, solution accelerators and custom solutions that enable users worldwide to enhance and extend Microsoft SharePoint portal solutions to minimize development time, resources and cost. According to John Anderson, manager of content and syndication at Bamboo Solutions, the resident expert will be the face of project management in SharePoint within Bamboo Nation.

“We’re thrilled to be collaborating with Dux on this new topic area,” said Anderson. “He is the ideal representative for our project management topic area, given his years of experience in project management and SharePoint, combined with his personable writing style.”

Launching this week, the project management area within Bamboo Nation will feature an overview of project management in SharePoint, dedicated discussion forums, use cases, recommended resources, and a profile and Q&A with Sy. Sy will continually author articles spotlighting specific aspects of project management in SharePoint and offer best practices advice.
