Innovative-e Partners with O'Reilly Media to Host Free Live Webcast:
"7 Ways to Leverage SharePoint for Project Management Success"

Innovative-e, Inc. managing partner, Dux Raymond Sy, will share "7 Ways to Leverage SharePoint for Project Management Success" during a free live O'Reilly webcast on February 27.

ATLANTA — Innovative-e, Inc. is partnering with O'Reilly Media to host a free live webcast on Friday, February 27 at 10 a.m. PST. The webcast will be led by Innovative-e managing partner, Dux Raymond Sy, author of SharePoint for Project Management: How to Create a Project Management Information System (PMIS) with SharePoint.

Attendees of the webcast will acquire the practical knowledge necessary to address common project management challenges using SharePoint, a web-based collaboration technology that empowers organizations to increase worker productivity. SharePoint provides a framework for project managers to create a standards-based PMIS to reduce inefficient communication among stakeholders, eliminate poor document management practices and clearly define project collaboration standards that can lead to project success. After the presentation, participants will be able to: 1) identify the benefits of leveraging SharePoint as a PMIS, 2) quantify the advantages of using SharePoint as a PMIS compared to other tools, and 3) enumerate the project team collaboration and communication benefits that SharePoint provides.

Dux Raymond Sy has more than 15 years of experience in information technology and has earned a reputation as a leading expert in leveraging technology to enhance project management. He is currently a managing partner and chief evangelist of Innovative-e, Inc., a Microsoft-certified, business technology consulting and services company that serves startups to Global 50 clients.

As a thought leader in maximizing project team collaboration, Sy is focused on empowering organizations on how to leverage the benefits of collaborative tools with quantifiable goals such as: increasing productivity and efficiency, decreasing collaboration redundancies and streamlining electronic communications. In addition, he is Bamboo Nation's resident project management expert. Sy is also a trainer and course author for Learning Tree International, where he has developed and facilitated management and technology training to government organizations, Fortune 500 companies, non-profit institutions in the United States, Bahamas, Barbados, China, the United Kingdom and the Philippines.
